Dear Parents and Carers,

I am absolutely delighted to share with you the final report from our recent Ofsted inspection, which took place on 20 and 21 October 2026.

This is an incredibly proud moment for everyone connected with St Ives Junior School, and I hope that, as you read the report, you will feel as proud of our school as we do.

The report recognises so much of what makes St Ives Junior School special, particularly our inclusive ethos, the positive relationships across our school community and the wealth of opportunities we provide for our children.

I am especially delighted that Personal Development and Wellbeing was judged to meet the Strong Standard, recognising the importance we place on ensuring that our children feel happy, safe, valued and supported to flourish.

There are some particularly wonderful comments within the report that I wanted to share with you.

On our children and school community, inspectors said:

"Pupils know they belong."

"Pupils are happy at this nurturing and inclusive community school."

On inclusion, inspectors recognised that:

"An inclusive culture runs throughout the school."

On the care and wellbeing of our children:

"Leaders provide high-quality pastoral support to promote pupils' mental health and wellbeing."

And, perhaps most meaningfully, on our school ethos and leadership:

"The school's motto, 'Learning together, Free to fly', embodies the strength of teamwork felt across the school."

St Ives Junior School

Headteacher - Mrs Ali Watts

For me, these comments capture what we have always believed at St Ives Junior School: that education is about so much more than academic achievement. It is about helping children grow into confident, resilient, kind and thoughtful individuals who are ready for the next stage of their lives.

The report also recognises the strength of our curriculum, the progress pupils make, the positive behaviour across the school and our commitment to ensuring that every child has the opportunity to succeed.

Having been part of St Ives Junior School for many years, I cannot begin to express how proud I am of our school and everything we have achieved together. Seeing the values and ethos that we work so hard to promote every day reflected so positively in this report means an enormous amount to me.

Our staff work incredibly hard every single day, and I am immensely grateful for their dedication, care and unwavering commitment to our children. I would also like to thank our governors for their continued support and challenge, and you, our parents and carers, for the trust you place in us and the support you give our school.

Most importantly, I want to celebrate our wonderful children. They are the reason we do what we do, and they make St Ives Junior School the special place it is.

Of course, our journey of school improvement never stops. We remain ambitious for every child and will continue building on the many strengths recognised in this report.

For now, though, I hope you will join us in celebrating this achievement and feeling incredibly proud to be part of the SIJS family.

Thank you for being part of our journey.

Learning Together, Free to Fly.

With very best wishes,

Ali Watts
